

PILOT PROGRAMME

Evaluation Framework

The outcomes SiteActive measures and reports during the pilot.

v1.0 · June 2026

During the pilot, SiteActive measures and reports its own performance against a defined set of outcomes, so that participation is assessed on evidence rather than impression. The outcomes below are reported to you during and at the end of the pilot — they are reported outcomes, not guarantees. Any performance guarantee, if offered, is a separate written schedule and forms no part of this acknowledgement.

What we measure and report: platform usability; AI-assistance accuracy against qualified human review; cross-reference engine accuracy and corporate-over-contractor authority integrity; SHERQ and ESG data completeness and faithful ingest; SA-law mapping accuracy, evidence-trail integrity and expiry-alert reliability; daily operational turnaround against your baseline; auditor, insurer and legal export reconciliation and third-party usability; GTI, Circuit Breaker and scoring correctness; measured availability and responsiveness; and administrative time and audit-pack assembly time against your baseline.

How it works: a day-0 baseline of your current-state figures is captured before go-live and improvement is measured against it; objective measures come from the platform's own evidence trail, experiential measures from a short end-of-day check-in.

By acknowledging, you confirm you have read and understood how the pilot will be measured and reported. Placement remains at SiteActive's sole discretion.
